

Savior Supreme
New Clothing
Colossians 3:12-17

When we talk about salvation, we usually understand it in terms of being saved from our sin. God saves us from the penalty of death because of our sin. Rarely do we talk about what He saves us to, but we know He saves us to a new life in Him, one that looks and feels and thinks in new ways. In salvation, we are told to take off certain things about us and to put on something new, clothing that matches the character and image of our Creator.

1. God _____ us
2. God created us for _____
3. God calls us to _____

God loves us and has not forsaken us. He is for us and has placed us in one body to walk together, pursuing him, expressing gratitude to him, working together in the name of Jesus for the glory of the kingdom.

Reflection

Would you describe your walk with Christ as stale? Do you really believe and grasp that God loves you? Use your concordance and do a study from the Bible about how much God loves His people. Are you disconnected from the community? Read through just one of Paul's letters and see how many times his truths can only be understood and embraced in community. Decide to get connected in a Life Group that will help you find people that will invest in you and find people in whom you can invest. Are you learning from someone older than you and are you teaching someone younger? Do your children know what it looks like to worship as a multigenerational church or will they disconnect from church the minute they "graduate from youth?"
