

This Is Church: Belong
Acts 2:41-47

We are wired for relationship. But in our global, technologically advanced world that connects everyone through social media outlets, our society has lost touch with the reality of what relationships are supposed to look like. We find ourselves inclined to substitute fantasy for reality, an exchange that can have devastating consequences on our relationships.

When we embrace the cross, Jesus invites us into a relationship that has existed for all eternity. We join and are intimately connected to the fellowship of Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. But we also enjoy a spiritual connection to others who are Christ-followers as well. We must live in and engage this world as a faith family, if we hope to make a difference in the kingdom.
