

This Is Church: Become
Romans 12:1-2

T.S. Eliot wrote, “The greatest proof of Christianity for others is not how far a man can logically analyze his reasons for believing, but how far in practice he will stake his life on his belief.” In a world of pluralism and relative truth where everyone’s opinion and cause are held in equal esteem, it is getting much more difficult to find causes upon which we will stake our lives.

1. We promote _____ growth
 - A. A _____ intimacy with Christ
 - B. A _____ of spiritual disciplines
 - C. A _____ worldview in life
2. We promote _____ involvement
 - A. Develop natural _____
 - B. Identify spiritual _____
 - C. Train for church _____
3. We promote _____ engagement
 - A. By being _____
 - B. By being _____

By its nature, the act of becoming is a process. For the believer, becoming like Jesus is a life-long process that begins when we embrace the cross of Christ and ends when we see Jesus face to face. In the meantime, we invest ourselves in the greatest cause the world has ever known—the cause of Christ and His kingdom.