

Jesus' Most Confounding Statements
God Won't Forgive This Sin
Matthew 12:22-32

We tend to think of sins in terms of degree. While it is true that the consequences to particular sins vary in degree, every sin, regardless of how small or large we might they are, violates God's nature and character. The good news of the gospel is that every sin can be forgiven. Or can it?

God does not forgive those who _____ Jesus and never _____ His forgiveness.

1. The work of Christ points to the _____ of the kingdom.
2. The work of Christ requires a _____.
3. The work of Christ offers _____ and warning.

The good news of the gospel is that Christ through the work of the cross freely offers forgiveness to those who will receive it by faith. It is futile to seek salvation on any other terms. We either believe in ourselves or we believe in Christ. What we believe determines our destiny.
