

How to Know God's Will
God's Will and the Bible
Psalm 19:7-14

The world offers all kinds of books, articles, and blogs that claim to help us live our best life now, find our purpose, or enjoy success. But it is the Bible that offers salvation, and it is the same Bible that gives us the path of sanctification. Yet, all the other voices often drown out what God is saying to us. We end up looking for God's answers everywhere except the one place He has guaranteed to meet us and show Himself to us; namely, His Word.

God gives us _____ through His Word.

1. God's Word is sufficient to _____ God.
2. God's Word is sufficient to _____ God.
3. God's Word is sufficient to _____ God.

Now is a good time to start making daily Bible reading a part of your routine. If time allows, reflect deeply on the verses you read and journal your thoughts, reactions, and plans based on what God has said. It truly is overwhelming that the Creator of the universe would allow His majesty to be revealed within the limitations of our finite language. We should open our Bibles prayerfully, submissively, expectantly, and with a pen in hand; He will surely give us the direction we need.
