

Genesis: Back to Authenticity
Integrity in the Workplace
Genesis 46:31 – 47:26

Work has the ability to test our faith and either discredit it or strengthen it. The pressure of the workplace, knowing that the hours spent there pays the bills, will test our character in ways that sitting in a church pew on Sunday never will. Our household efficiency may be tested by getting children ready or teenagers motivated for church on Sundays, but work is an exacting test of efficiency that reveals much about our personality and character.

1. Joseph exemplified wisdom in his planning.
2. Joseph exemplified loyalty in his accountability.
3. Joseph exemplified integrity in his tasks.

Because of the cross, we can take Jesus at His word. He was who He said He was and did what He said He would do. With a single heart and a single mind and a single will, He fulfilled the Father's plan. Jesus carried out the most innovative, creative plan this world will ever know. From the virgin birth to the death and resurrection to the soon-return of Christ, the plan of Almighty God is rich with innovation and creativity. It had never been done before. It will never be done again. It was a once and for all Master Plan only the Creator could envision and implement.
